TRIGG ITEMS

Miss Delle Wadlington left last Thursday for Boston to complete her studies in elocution. She will be absent a year, but during the summer vacation will go to Nova Scotia to visit Miss Archibald, who spent last summer with Miss Wadlington.

Col. R. A. Burnett continues quite feeble and is confined to his room most of the time. On account of his feeble condition he was not in the courtroom a single time during the recent term of court. He is seventy-seven years of age.

Twenty-eight hogheads of trash lugs were sold on the Cadiz market Tuesday at five and a half cents. There are now in the storage house just three hundred hogheads remaining unsold.—Record.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
A Comparison.

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 12.—As most things are viewed from the standpoint of comparison, I was impressed with the wide difference in the cost of selling a lot of tobacco on the loose floor here last week and what the tobacco association would charge.

I have a bill of sale of 2,390 pounds of leaf tobacco that was delivered to J. P. Thompson & Co. last Saturday, sold and paid for the same day, which brought nearly $7 per hundred. The charges made were $5.49. Had the tobacco been delivered to an association prizer the very first charge would have been $18.00 for prizing. In addition to this the farmer would have been charged heavy interest on any money advanced, and insurance for possibly a year or more, commission for selling and then been compelled to sustain loss in weight, which alone would have amounted to more than the entire cost of selling on the loose floor.

In the meantime Mr. Farmer would have taken the risk of his tobacco going through the "damage" process that has been so fashionable and expensive with association members this season.

I imagine Messrs. Thompson & Co. are satisfied with their profit in this business, for I don't hear a word from them about being "the farmers' friend." They seem to be taking the matter as a purely legitimate business transaction, as they ought to do, and there let it end. "Quick sales and small profits" is a pretty good motto just now.

With a Maid or Without.

Statistics, which, when skilfully handled, may prove anything, say that in America 80 per cent. of the women do their own work, says Helen Landon in the Home Circle of The Circle magazine for February. The average woman who lives in a village or town, and the one who lives in the ordinary house or apartment in the large city, ordinarily keep one maid; sometimes there is also a visiting laundress, but probably not in the majority of cases.

The question to-day is, shall we eliminate this one servant?

It is interesting to note the various answers to this query from different sources. The head of the largest settlement in the country, a well-known writer on social problems, believes that the day of the general houseworking servant is over. Her place should be supplied by several maids, not one. A visiting cook should come in, prepare the meals, and leave. A chambermaid and waitress should come and go; a nurse should care for the babe a certain part of the day, and no more; and so on, till all family needs are met. All the work would then be done by specialists and paid for by the hour. Unfortunately, while this sort of thing might work successfully in a Utopia of the rich, it is impossible with the merely well-to-do; it cannot even be considered as a practical solution of domestic difficulties.

Rings Round Eyes

J-19

The ill peculiar to women, take different forms. Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express. Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.

Wine of Cardui

Mrs. M. C. Austin, of Memphis, Tenn., writes: "For five (5) years I suffered with every symptom of female disease, but after using the well-known Cardui Home Treatment, I was entirely well."
